

ALEXANDRIA.
SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 16.

EX-SECRETARY McCULLOCH says:

"What our manufacturers as well as our farmers need is an increase in the foreign demand for their productions. If there is any other way by which this can be secured than by a reform of the tariff, which stands in the way of international trade, it has not yet been made public. The protective tariff can no longer be defended on the ground that wages are lower in Great Britain than in the United States, which is not only the most productive but the most inviting of countries, with doors wide open to all comers. If labor was not more efficient here than in other countries, the foreign laborers who every year are coming by thousands would equalize its cost. To me it seems very clear that all the great industrial interests in the United States are greatly in need of a freer trade with other nations, and that this can only be brought about by a radical change in our financial policy."

Almost every well informed and reasonable man, who has devoted any time to the consideration of this subject, and who is unprejudiced and disinterested, must think of it just as Mr. McCulloch does; and the result of the recent elections in the North shows that there are a great many more of such people in that section of the country now than formerly, and that their number is increasing.

GENERAL MAHONE says his defeat was caused by democratic fraud and bulldozing. But the General's candidate for Attorney General, Mr. Luty, is reported as saying that the real cause was the failure of the General's disbursement agents to put out the funds entrusted to them for the purpose of buying votes; that the General's voters having heard of the fabulous sums he had received from the national republican committee, came to the polls on election day under the conviction that each one of them would be "seen" by the agents referred to, but that being disappointed, they readily sold out to the democrats, who were on hand with pockets full of money. Captain Luty's reported explanation of the defeat, whether true or not, is certainly more reasonable than the General's.

SOME of the more capacious northern newspapers find fault with Senator Hampton for speaking of the postoffice at his home, Columbia, as "my postoffice." They might just as well find fault with General Lee because he used to speak of the southern people as "my people." Senator Hampton had no more intention of implying that the postoffice at Columbia belongs to him, than a Virginian in New York would have it appear that he imagines his State belongs to him when he speaks of Virginia as "my State."

EMANCIPATION in Brazil, as anticipated by discerning people, has been quickly followed by revolution. The Emperor's daughter is not as wise as she and her admirers think she is. Demagogues have a fine chance in a country a large portion of whose population is composed of recently liberated negro slaves. It would not be surprising if the fate of Brazil be like that of Jamaica, San Domingo, Hayti and other countries in which emancipated negroes compose the larger element of the population.

REVEREND HALSEY, the negro bishop of the African Methodist Church, in an address to the Virginia Methodist Church Conference in Richmond yesterday, said: "I generally vote as I please. I do not see why a colored man shouldn't be a democrat as well as anything else. The negroes need a church in its purest sense, without republican or democratic politics." The negroes, not only in Virginia, but in all the South, would get along much better if all their preachers were as wise as the one referred to.

REV. DR. HOGE, of Richmond, a distinguished Presbyterian preacher, addressed the Methodist conference now in session in his city, and received the unanimous applause of the large assemblage. When General Mahone had a newspaper in Richmond, and was urging the repudiation of the State debt, he denounced Dr. Hoge for making the public assertion that "what is morally wrong cannot be politically right."

THE NEW YORK Financial News says Mahonites and Anarchists are synonymous terms. There is little doubt of the fact that any attempt to dominate the white people of Virginia by negroes, who constitute nine-tenths of the Mahonites, would produce a condition in the State not far removed from anarchy; so that the paper referred to is not as far out of the way as some people may imagine.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16, 1889.
Seats for the eight new Senators made by the admission of the four new States have been placed in the Senate chamber, six on the republican and two on the democratic side. The two latter were put where they are not because it was supposed they would be occupied by democrats, but for the reason that such a position would prevent a lap sided appearance of the floor. If all of the eight new Senators shall be republicans and two of them shall object to sitting on the democratic side, the two new seats on that side will be moved to the republican side. All the seats ever in the Senate are there now, and the new ones, added by reason of the increased number of Senators, are made exactly like the old ones. Clay's, Webster's, Calhoun's and those of all the other old Senators who gave reputation to the American Senate are there yet, but they are only known to Capt. Bassett, the doorkeeper, who for fifty odd years has been in the continuous employ of the Senate, and who has, by concealing their identity, been enabled to preserve them from the vandalism of relic hunters. Senators Moody and Pettigrew are the only two of the eight new Senators who have been elected, and they have selected two of the new seats in the outer row on the republican side.

Representative Bowdler, of the Norfolk district, Va., one of the only two republicans from his State now in Congress, is here to-day. He says he doesn't know when General Mahone's anticipated address, as signing fraud and intimidation as the cause of his recent defeat, will be issued, but he does know that fraud was rampant in his district, or words to that effect.

Ex-Representative Taubee, of Kentucky, says most of the recent lawlessness in his State has occurred in his district, the Congressmen from which is a republican. He says the population of the district is composed of the men and the descendants of men who followed the deer and turkeys from Virginia, Tennessee and the more thickly settled portions of Kentucky, who think the greatest man is the one who is the best shot at long and the best slasher at short distances. He says a proposition is now being considered in Kentucky for organizing a special police force of fifty picked men to be kept at the Capital and sent as occasion may require to the places in which lawlessness makes its appearance.

Now that the republicans in Virginia have had time to recover from the shock of their recent defeat, they have resumed their visits to the Postoffice Department, where they always had favor, and have revived their applications for offices and renewed their talk about such offices. It is understood that Mr. Wise has transferred his endorsement of Mr. Grubbs—who has been provided for by Collector Brady—or the Richmond postoffice, to Judge Atkins, and that the latter may probably be appointed, as Mr. Blair Morris is Mahone's favorite, and as the recent election shows that Mahone is not endorsed by his party. Mr. Robinson, an applicant for the Danville postoffice, accompanied by Cols. Sims and Popham had an interview with Postmaster General Wadsworth to-day. Mr. Agnew of Alexandria also called upon Mr. Wadsworth in reference to some of the offices in his district, but there were so many ahead of him that he did not wait for his turn. Some of the applicants say they were told to keep quiet until after the election, and they did so, but that now nothing can be risked by removing democratic incumbents and filling the vacancies with republicans. They seem to think also that hereafter Virginia republicans will be appointed more on their individual merits than on the endorsement of General Mahone or that of the leaders of the "kickers."

As anticipated in yesterday's GAZETTE, Edw. Markaber was to-day appointed postmaster at Voo, Prince William county, Virginia, vice H. Voo, removed. This was the only change made in the 4th class postoffices of Virginia to-day.

The first session of the Fifty-first Congress will assemble two weeks from next Monday. Forty-five members of the House have already arrived, and about a dozen Senators. It seems to be pretty well understood at the State Department that Virginia is to find no favors there. Mr. Blaine never was favorably disposed to those Virginia applicants who had General Mahone's endorsements, and now that the General has been submerged it is thought best to ignore all Virginia applications, especially as there are so many from other States. The General has hurt the Virginia republicans individually as well as collectively.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

A large gang of laborers were put to work on the battle ship Texas, in the Norfolk navy-yard yesterday.

Kenton C. Murray, editor of the Norfolk Landmark, will be a candidate for secretary of the Commonwealth.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Valley Railroad Company was held at Staunton yesterday. All the old officers were re-elected.

John S. Castleman, of Clarke county, sold last week seventeen head of cattle, which had increased in weight during the past year from grazing alone, 475 pounds each.

Archbishop Janssens, of New Orleans, and Bishop Maes, of Covington, Ky., arrived at Richmond this morning and will be the guests of Bishop Van de Vyver for a few days.

Wm. West, a colored evangelist of the Disciples Church, last night addressed the convention of that denomination now in session in Richmond. In his remarks he said religion was the only thing that would improve the condition of the negro.

Gov. Lee has appointed Judge R. W. Hughes, J. L. Cochran, Comm. Patison, Dr. M. Q. Holt, B. Johnston Barbour and J. W. Porter delegates to the silver convention to meet at St. Louis November 26.

Sheriff George W. Tansill, of Prince William county, met with a serious accident on Tuesday last near Potomac, in that county. In attempting to get on an engine on the A. and F. Railway, his foot slipped, throwing him to the ground and inflicting some severe injuries.

A dispatch from Richmond says: The opinion seems to be strong throughout the State that following the suggestion of the constitution, which prohibits a second term for the Governor, there will be a clean sweep by the Legislature of the basement officers in Richmond.

Liverpool merchants complain of the action of the United States customs collector at Norfolk, who has informed the Treasury Department at Washington that the employment of graders, whose business it is to classify cotton for the English market and who are sent out by English cotton brokers, is a violation of the labor contract law.

In the County Court of Loudoun on Thursday, J. W. Bradley, C. B. Coe, and Bayard B. Coe, indicted several months ago for assault on the highway, were sentenced, the first two to three years and ten months in the penitentiary, and B. B. Coe (probably owing to his youth) to thirty days in jail and a fine of $5.

The Page Courier says: "It is reported that an arrangement has been perfected by which the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company will get possession of the Shenandoah Valley Railroad about the 1st of January. This, if accomplished, will, we think, secure the building of the proposed road from here to Washington."

Wednesday night, at Osborne's Ford, Scott county, Captain Hugh Moore, a wealthy citizen, was shot dead by Duke Ramey. It is supposed the purpose was robbery. Six years ago Ramey—then seventeen years old—was sent to the penitentiary for twelve years for the murder of John Lee. On account of the evidence being circumstantial Governor Lee pardoned Ramey.

Court of Appeals Yesterday.

Friedenhelm, &c., against Rohr and als. Argued by Edward Y. Cannon, esq., for appellant and H. R. Pollard, esq., for appellees.

Harrison against Garnett. Cause put on privileged docket to be heard at the January term next.

Virginia Baptist Association.

At the meeting of the Virginia Baptist Association in Charlottesville yesterday, Rev. J. L. Barksdale, colored, a messenger from the Colored Baptist Convention, presented the greetings of that body. Dr. C. C. Bittling, of the American Baptist Publication Society, of Philadelphia, was also recognized. For some years the Baptists of Virginia have been considering the question of an orphanage for the State, and at the last meeting of the association appointed a committee to investigate and report on the subject. The report recites that a number of children of Baptist parents are reared in city and county almshouses, and some in houses of other denominations. The orphanage committee propose a board, to be appointed by the general association, which shall locate the orphanage at the most desirable point and have local boards.

The report was amended so as to provide for a board of trustees to be appointed by the president and vice president. The work of raising money for the orphanage was begun, and $5,000 were raised in a few minutes.

The report of the State mission board was submitted. This board has supplied through its missionaries fifty-three cities and towns and one hundred and twenty-one counties. The board asked for $15,000 for home missions for the year ending October 31. This amount was not realized, for instead of increasing the contributions the receipts were $12,275, making, with balance from last year, $17,701, and paid out $13,671.42, leaving a balance on hand of $3,999.58. Unless more money is received this year than last year the board thinks the church cannot maintain its present position in the mission rank, but must retrograde. Last year's ministers under the board preached 5,641 sermons, baptized 775 converts, took part in meetings in which 2,053 persons were converted, and opened 26 new Sunday schools. The increase of churches and membership has been very gratifying.

The report on home missions was read at the night session. It makes a comparison between the state of the work in 1879 and of 1889, which shows a splendid increase.

Virginia Conference.

A feature of yesterday's session of the Virginia Conference M. E. Church South, in Richmond, was an address delivered before that body by Bishop Halsey, of the African Methodist Church. He came before the conference in behalf of the Payne Institute, in Augusta, Ga., a school where young colored men are educated for the ministry. During his address he said: "Some people talk about sending the negro away. If any of you want to go you can do so. I am all ready to go with you. The question is not whether the white man is better than the negro, but whether the negro can be made a good Christian."

The petition of Rev. E. M. Totten, from the North Carolina Conference of the Protestant Church, asking admission to the conference, was withdrawn.

The following was referred to the committee on memorials:

"Resolved, That this conference memorialize the General Conference to amend the discipline in relation to the administration of baptism to infants and adults."

Dr. W. V. Tudor and E. V. White presented a paper memorializing the General Conference to consider the question of and adoption of some legislation looking to insuring property of the conference.

W. E. Edwards introduced a paper memorializing the General Conference inquiring into the expediency of making it obligatory in the candidates for admission to the church to bind themselves to "renounce all amusements condemned by the church, especially card-playing, wine-drinking, theatre-going and participation in the promiscuous dance."

The following former members of the conference were readmitted to the traveling committee: J. W. Howell, Charles Green, Walter J. Hubbard and J. W. Shackelford.

Bishop Hubbard made a speech addressed to the nine deacons elected yesterday, who after answering the usual questions, to day were admitted to membership in the conference.

Horrors of Mormonism.

In the preparation for the coming municipal election in Utah many applications for naturalization have been made at Salt Lake recently. Objection is being made to the admission of persons accepting the faith in polygamy, and adhering to other Mormon tenets, and yesterday was set by the court to hear the question. Attorneys for the liberals asserted that no Mormon who had taken oaths in the Endowment House could be a citizen, and testimony was ordered regarding the nature of these oaths.

John Bond swore he went through the Endowment House in 1886, and was required to take an obligation which compelled him to obey every doctrine of the church, especially in opposition to the United States, under penalty of his life. He was also required to take oath to avenge the blood of Joseph Smith on this nation, and to teach this to his children and children's children to the latest generation.

Martin B. Wardwell took a similar oath at the same time, and said he was told that if he revealed any secrets his throat would be cut and his bones torn out. He saw the death penalty enforced on a man named Green a number of years ago, and when some of the members of the band murmured, John W. Young said that if they did not shut up they would be served the same way.

Andrew Cahoon swore to the same obligations, and said that he took an oath that the highest allegiance was to the Mormon Church; polygamy was the command of God, and all must endorse it or be damned. The general teaching of the church is in hostility to the laws of the land. Cahoon had heard leaders of the church party advocate the overthrow of the United States government. It is common for William Woodruff, the present head of the church, to do this.

All the witnesses spoke of the murders they had either seen or heard of in consequence of these oaths.

Richmond and Danville Affairs.

George S. Scott, president of the Richmond and Danville Railroad, is to retire from office at the end of his present official term. He says he will not again accept the position for reasons of a personal nature. He repudiates the idea that he is ousted from the place, and declares that his relations with the management are friendly and harmonious. Street rumors, however, are that all is not happy in the Danville board. It is said that Mr. Scott disposed of the large majority of his stock in the Richmond and Danville and the Richmond Terminal Companies and has since been decrying its value. The name of E. B. Thomas, formerly general manager of the Richmond Terminal road and now second vice-president of the Erie, is prominently mentioned as the successor of Mr. Scott.

Mr. John H. Inman is quoted as saying: "I expect to see many and some important changes in the affairs of the Richmond Terminal Company. A good man will be made the executive officer of Richmond and Danville. The entire system is making out admirably, and its affairs in the future will be well looked after. The property is a valuable one and is capable of making big money."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

An effort is being made to procure light buoys for the lower part of Chesapeake bay.

The Queen of Portugal gave birth to a son yesterday. Both mother and child are doing well.

Advices from Brazil are to the effect that a revolutionary movement in favor of a republic has broken out in Rio Janeiro, that the cabinet ministers have resigned and that the army controls the situation.

General Schofield, in his annual report, says that among the causes of desertion from the army is the discontent inspired by ordinary labor and routine of military duty in time of peace. The officers are also in a measure responsible.

The committee of five engineers appointed to report on the Panama canal will sail from France for the Isthmus on the 10th of December. These gentlemen have been charged to conceal no unfavorable facts, and not to underrate anything that is of a hopeful nature.

Parnell's mother, who is living at Borden town, N. J., is said to be almost starving. It is asserted that she is compelled to sell her dresses and jewelry for bread and that she is penniless and alone, living in a dismantled house with only her cat and guitar for company.

Patti, the opera singer, receives the largest wages ever paid to an artist, human or divine. She is paid $3,500 every night she sings in the Albert Hall, in London. Even with this, and the expenditure of $5,000 for each concert, her managers are able to show a profit of from $2,000 to $3,000 per night.

Since the withdrawal of the Brooklyn and Cincinnati clubs from the American Baseball Association the Kansas City club has transferred its membership from the American to the Western Association. Baltimore it is said will try to buy Washington's membership in the League. Detroit and Syracuse have expressed a desire to enter the Association, and Rochester may also go in.

The Virginia Society, of Atlanta, has adopted resolutions congratulating the cause of good government everywhere in the overthrow of Mahone, and rejoicing in "the victory achieved by the manhood and integrity of the Old Dominion." The association has elected Gov. Lee and Governor-elect McKinney honorary members of the society. Mr. Hamilton Douglas, of Alexandria county, is a member of the committee on resolutions.

THEFT AT A WEDDING.—Wednesday

night there was a wedding at the residence of Mrs. Fannie Hood, in Birmingham, Ala. Among the guests were Mrs. Laird and Mrs. Penn. Mrs. Laird left a small satchel containing a gold watch, a diamond breastpin, and a few dollars in the dressing room. When ready to leave, Mrs. Laird went for her satchel and found Mrs. Penn in the dressing room. The watch, breastpin and money were gone, and Mrs. Penn suggested that a servant must have stolen them. As she walked about the room the rattle of silver was heard, and then Mrs. Laird created a scene by accusing Mrs. Penn of the theft and demanding that she be searched then and there. An officer was sent for, the woman searched and the stolen money found in her stocking. All the stolen articles were returned, and then Mrs. Laird declined to prosecute.

WANTS A WIFE WITH WARM FEET.—

John McReynolds, an old man of seventy years of age, residing at Greenwich, Ct., called at Castle Garden, in New York yesterday, and said he was in need of a wife. He said he wanted a widow who was not affected with cholic cold feet. McReynolds has been a widower over fourteen years, and owns a small farm. His request will be given consideration.

If the young men who call to see their girls these long winter evenings, do not wish to be met on the steps with the words, "Miss Laura is sick with a cold, and can't be seen," they would better keep her well supplied with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

From Brazil.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—But little further information has been received here concerning the revolution in Rio de Janeiro. A dispatch received this morning states that the Minister of Marine was not killed, as reported yesterday, but that he was shot and seriously wounded by rebel soldiers. Another dispatch says that the question as to the nature of the future government will be submitted to a plebiscite. A later dispatch from Rio de Janeiro reports that a republic has been proclaimed with Senor da Fouseca as president. The imperial ministers have been placed under arrest and are kept in close confinement. The provisional government has guaranteed protection to the members of the imperial family. The Emperor is at his summer palace at Petropolis 25 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. All business in the city is suspended but there is no danger to life or property. Brazilian securities fell 3 on the London stock exchange to-day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The secretary of the New York Commercial Company states that he has received a cable dispatch from London as follows:
"Brazilian republic probable. Exchange declining. Peace settlement likely."

The London correspondents of the Commercial Company are friends of the Rothschilds, who are the bankers of the Brazilian Government.

The following telegram from John Matthews & Co., Rio Janeiro, has been received by L. W. Minford & Co., New York:

"Revolution in Brazil. Army and navy are combined."

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The report of a revolution in Brazil followed by a report of another in Venezuela caused a vast amount of excitement among down town merchants engaged in the South American trade. These reports caused a great crowd to gather in the coffee exchange this morning.

Another dispatch from Rio de Janeiro states that the garrison of that city has formed a provisional government. The populace are holding aloof from the revolutionary movement, and it is believed that the Government will be able to suppress it.

The annual importation of Brazilian coffee into the United States amounts to $60,000,000; rubber $16,000,000; sugar $20,000,000 and hides $30,000,000. Half of the coffee and nearly all of the rubber consumed in the United States comes from Brazil.

Fatal Shooting Affray.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 16.—Wm Murley was fatally shot in a saloon here yesterday morning by Jim Ellis. Murley and Ellis had had a difficulty a few days since, and the former upon entering the saloon yesterday morning saw Ellis and two abandoned women talking. He immediately drew a revolver and began firing. Ellis also produced a pistol and shot at Murley several times, one ball entering his left eye, crashing through the front of the skull, knocking both eyeballs from their sockets and coming out through the left temple. He died a few hours after being removed to the hospital. When the police went to Murley to assist him to rise he still held the revolver tightly clutched in his right hand and with the left was endeavoring to replace the eyeballs in their sockets, saying to the officer, "Don't take me yet, let me have another go at him." Ellis, who was not hurt, was locked up in the county jail.

Killed for a Dollar and a Half

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 16.—Thursday at Ophir Toole county, Oas. Wyman shot and killed Jas. Kelly. The trouble grew out of a lawsuit for one dollar and a half. It began a month ago. Thursday evening the two men met and quarreled over the matter. Wyman is in jail. He is an attorney, and is a young man generally respected. Kelly had the reputation of being a hard citizen when in drink and he drank some when the quarrel arose.

Mr. Davis.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 16.—Hon. Jefferson Davis was here yesterday on the steamer Goldman, suffering from a severe cold, having been ill at Briarfield plantation, but seemed to be quite strong for one of his age. He received a number of gentlemen who called to pay their respects to him. He passed down en route to New Orleans on the steamer Leathers.

Collision with a Street Car.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 16.—The Long Branch express on the Central Railroad, due here at 9 o'clock this morning, struck horse car No 3 on the Elizabeth street railway, demolishing it. James Packlogham, the driver of the car, was thrown thirty feet, receiving injuries that will prove fatal.

THREE SHOTS AT A DOCTOR.—News from Boone Court house, W. Va., chronicles a sensation in the shape of the shooting of Dr. F. J. Arrett by Joseph Fips, a farmer and stock raiser. The shooting took place at Jarrett's Valley, yesterday. For some time past Fips has suspected an intimacy between his wife and Dr. Arrett, and upon several occasions he set a bear trap for the doctor, hoping to catch him while awaiting the wife at a trying place. His effort failed, and a few evenings ago Mr. Fips announced he was going away, to be absent several days. He returned about ten o'clock at night and discovered Dr. Arrett with his wife. Fips shot the doctor three times, inflicting serious, but not fatal, wounds.

At Bessemer, Mich., to-day, the jury returned a verdict of guilty against Holzhay, "Black Bart," the stage robber. Holzhay was then sentenced for life at hard labor. The prisoner broke down.

W. E. Craig, a prominent member of the California Athletic Club, speaking of Sullivan's offer to meet Jackson for a purse of $25,000, says the club will give no such amount of money for any body to fight for, but it will give a larger purse than has ever been offered before in this country. He does not think there will be another fight between Dempsey and Lablache.

There is exciting news from Venezuela. The reign of General Guzman-Blanco, as dictator, is, appears, at an end. Both the people and the government have repudiated him. A revolt against Guzman has resulted in an overthrow of his partisans and his recall as Ambassador to European powers.

In St. Louis last night the body of a woman, well dressed and with every appearance of belonging to the best class of society, was found at the entrance of Shaw's Garden. The woman had a bullet hole through her head, and it is a case of supposed suicide.
